Network monitoring specialist named one of the 50 fastest growing technology corporations in Germany

Paessler: Listed 33 on the 2012 Deloitte Technology Fast 50 Award

Nuremberg, Germany - Paessler AG, developer of the innovative network monitoring solution PRTG, was awarded as one of the German "Deloitte Technology Fast 50". This accolade is awarded yearly by the auditing and consulting company, Deloitte. Having achieved 33rd on the list, Paessler has proven that the company still maintains outstanding growth dynamics after more than ten years on the market. The award also emphasizes the German software manufacturer's continuous, positive company development and innovative ability.

This is the 10th year of the Technology Fast 50 competition in Germany. Every year, this award is given to the fastest growing technology companies for their corporate performance. The main criteria for the award is the average sales percentage over the past five business years, in this case from 2007 to 2011. The focus is on companies in software, communication or network operations, Internet, computer/peripheral, life sciences or new technologies industries. For companies to be nominated, a significant portion of their sales revenue must stem from self-developed technology.

"If you've been nominated by Deloitte for the Fast 50, you've shown impressive corporate development," commented Dieter Schlereth, partner and TMT manager at Deloitte. "Many companies have applied this year as well, which on one hand shows how desirable the award is, and on the other hand, shows the innovative power that slumbers within German companies."

"We are very excited to be named one of the Deloitte Technology Fast 50," says Christian Twardawa, COO at Paessler AG. "The placement confirms our distinguished corporate success, as well as our innovative power and company culture. In view of the many German companies that are active in the analyzed fields, we are proud to be counted as one of the 50 fastest-growing corporations."
